HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

There are 20 applicants for liquor licenses in Winoski village and one in Shelburne.

J. R. Booth of Burlington has brought suit to recover $8,000 from the New York Central Railway company, a contract case.

Ex-Governor Samuel W. Pingree of Hartford has so far recovered from his recent serious illness with pneumonia that he is able to be outdoors on pleasant days.

The Holland Creamery company of Holland has leased the J. G. Furbush company's plant at Derby Line and will make it available for pasteurizing and churning at once.

The body of George Keese, Jr., a soldier at Camp Greene, Charlotte, N. C., who died of German measles and complications, was brought to Ferrisburg last week for funeral services and burial.

Gerritt Forbes of New York has brought suit in Rutland county court against the Green Mountain Marble company and the United Marble company, their successors, to recover $27,500, alleged to be the balance due on a note.

The city mission work at St. Johnsbury is to be continued, plans having been made to raise $2,500 for the support of the enterprise. Over 100 boys have been enrolled in the organization. A physical director for boys and girls is to be engaged.

The hospital at Springfield is now so crowded that when five victims of a fire were carried there last week they had to be put in cots in the operating room. There were 203 patients in the hospital, and 16 had been the number for a week.

Robert Moher of Rutland was injured in a peculiar manner while in a store in that city April 11, when a pile of heavy linoleum toppled over and struck him on the head and on foot. There were no broken bones, but severe bruises kept Mr. Moher in the house for several days.

Harry A. Bartlett died at his home in St. Johnsbury April 5 after a long illness with Bright's disease. His death occurred just a month after that of his mother, Mrs. Lydia Bartlett, and her body, which was placed in the tomb, was interred the same day as was that of her son.

Less than 60 Burlington women have declared on personal property this year, and April 20 is the last day on which they can do so and be privileged to vote next year. Unless one holds real estate, it is necessary to declare on their personal property every year in order to have their names on the tax list.

William McNaughton lost a barn on his farm in Danville by fire last week. He had been burning grass in the field near the barn, but did not think the building was in danger, as there was a snowdrift around it. Some time later the barn was discovered to be on fire. In it were 20 tons of hay and some farming tools.

Otis Gilbert, for 18 years steward at the Van Ness house in Burlington, dropped dead in his yard in that city Friday, heart trouble being the cause. Mr. Gilbert had been the proprietor of the Gilbert inn for two and one-half years and sold out only a few days before his death. He was the reader in the Christian Science church in Burlington.

The death of Willard E. Strong of Benson, which occurred at the home of his son in Pottsville, resulted from an accident. Mr. Strong was riding in the back of a wagon when a boy threw a snowball, which frightened the horse and caused it to jump, throwing Mr. Benson into the road. Several ribs were broken, pneumonia developed, and his death followed.

Two institutions and three residents of Bennington are to receive legacies from the will of the late William M. Sanford, a member of the firm of Hannibal Green's Sons of Troy, N. Y. The Old First Congregational church of Bennington is to receive $1,000. Three residents of Old Bennington are also remembered: Mary R. Sanford, niece, $5,000; Mary S. Jennings, niece, $5,000; Marie H. Sanford, sister-in-law, $2,000.

Dr. Edward Taylor, who has been working on the infantile paralysis situation with the state board of health for the past two years, has gone to New York, and on April 20 will leave for Johannesburg, South Africa, to which place he has been summoned because for some time an epidemic of the paralysis has been raging there. Dr. Taylor expects to be gone for six or seven months.

The death recently occurred in Worcester, Mass., of Dr. James H. Ingalls, U. V. M., ex-'92. Prof. E. L. Ingalls of the University of Vermont is his brother, also William D. Ingalls of Berkshire, and Mrs. Jennie E. Colburn of Richmond is a sister. Dr. Ingalls was born in Berkshire and later attended schools in Hyde Park and Burlington, then entering the medical department of the college, but completing his education in the University of Maryland at Baltimore and the University of Kentucky at Louisville.

Mrs. Charles C. Westcott of Rutland, 75 years old and totally blind, has been knitting for the Red Cross, setting up the work herself and completing it alone except for fastening the yarn at the end of the toes after the knitting had been completed. She had the directions read to her but once and carried the work along by that. She has also knit and crocheted yards and yards of lace during her life, one reading of directions proving sufficient for whatever she undertakes.

Mrs. Julia Morrill of East St. Johnsbury, 82 years old, thinks nothing of a 10-mile hike. Her home is five miles from St. Johnsbury, where her daughter lives. Last Sunday she walked from her home to her daughter's and the next day, after doing errands in various sections of St. Johnsbury, she walked the five miles back, and declared she was not even tired. Mrs. Morrill lives alone and carries on her small farm without assistance. She cuts her own hay, ploughs, splits and saws wood and last winter, when the snow lay heavy on the roofs, she climbed up by means of a woodpile and shoveled it off.

RECENT DEATHS OF VERMONTERS

Dr. Charles Bowman Sturtevant, one of the oldest and most successful physicians of southern New Hampshire, died on Friday in Manchester, N. H., aged 68 years. His death was due to hardening of the arteries. Five years ago Dr. Sturtevant relinquished practice and for the past four years his health had been failing.

Dr. Sturtevant was born in Barton, Vermont, on April 2, 1850. His parents were Paschal and Louisa A. (Harvey) Sturtevant. The doctor attended the academies in Northwood and Pittsfield and later studied medicine with Dr. John Wheeler of Pittsfield. He attended lectures at Dartmouth Medical college and Long Island college, Brooklyn, N. Y. In November, 1874, he took the degree of M. D. at Dartmouth. Before completing his studies he taught school in New Hampshire and Maine.

His first practice as a physician was in New Boston, N. H., where he remained eight years. After a nine months' trip to California, he settled in Manchester and had resided there ever since, a period of 33 years. While a resident of New Boston, Dr. Sturtevant served for five years as superintendent of schools. He was a member of the First Congregational church, of the Masonic lodge at Franconia, the Manchester Historical association, and the New Hampshire Medical society. He had been active in his life in the Good Templars, American Mechanics, and the United Order of Workmen.

His hobby was books, and he collected 5,000 volumes in his private library, undoubtedly one of the finest of its kind in his state. Among his collections is a notable assemblage of editions and works of Homer. Another is his historical collection bearing upon the history of New Hampshire.

In November, 1874, he was married to

Dandruff Scalps Lead to Baldness

If you have dandruff, get rid of it quick—it's positively dangerous and will surely ruin your hair if you don't.

Dandruff means faded, brittle, gray, scraggly hair that finally dies and falls out—new hair will not grow—then you are bald and nothing can help you.

The only sure way to abolish dandruff for good is to destroy the germ that causes it. To do this quickly, surely and safely, there is nothing so effective as Parisian sage, which you can get from any good druggist. It is guaranteed to cure dandruff, stop itching scalp and falling hair, and promote a new growth, or the coat, small as it is, will be restored.

Parisian sage is a scientific preparation that supplies all hair needs—an antiseptic liquid, neither sticky nor greasy, easy to apply, and delicately perfumed.

If you want beautiful, soft, thick, lustrous hair, and lots of it, you must use Parisian sage. Don't delay—begin tonight, use a little attention now insures abundant hair for years to come.

E. A. Brown & Co. will supply you. Adv.
